 Innovative Technologies - New Applications

»inno«

portrait - circulation - spreading - readers

»inno« is a hightech magazine for users of microtechnology, nanotechnology, advanced materials as well as optics and photonics. The magazine's focus is on the application in different industry sectors. It informs about current trends and upcoming developments. The main intention is to show practical and economic benefits of hightech innovations.

»inno« is published three times per year. The magazine is published in German every spring and autumn. Since 2013, every summer issue of the magazine is published as international edition in English.

»inno« is distributed free of charge as PDF-magazine via e-mail and reaches thereby approx. 3.500 readers from industry and science. »inno« addresses senior executives from research and development, technical management, sales management and executive board. Furthermore, experts from governmental authorities and associations are readers of the »inno«.

In addition, free print editions of »inno« are available at all IVAM-events like trade shows, workshops or conferences.
